

Supplementary Material

Supplementary Figure 1. Fitted probability distributions using mixture density estimation.

Shaded areas represent the 95% HPD of the estimation. Scaling these distributions with the number of correct or incorrect trials gives the weighted density functions displayed in Figure 3b.

Supplementary Figure 2. Differences between the weighted density functions. Shaded areas represent the 95% HPD of the estimation.